

Chicken versus Presidents

A political parody party game made with cards
by Supersonic Snail Studio

2 - 6 players

10 - 15 minutes

Age 12+

What is the big idea?

The chicken has laid golden eggs and the corrupt presidents want them all.

No, they need them actually, because what is a corrupt president without a golden egg?

So the fearless battle to gather them is just about to begin!

Game characteristics

Ridiculous setting - there is a chicken which has laid golden eggs named Johnny, Rocky, Maria and others. These eggs are very much wanted by the corrupt presidents like the president Mr. Dump and the president Comrade Grutin.

Fast paced game - the game is over in 10 to 15 minutes and don't wait too long to start a new game.

Easy to understand rules - the game mechanics are very simple and easy to pick up even by a chicken brain. No university degree required to play this one!

Strategic - the mechanics are simple yet you can become the strategy master (or chicken master). And still no university degree is required for this way of playing the game.

Stunningly amazing graphics - just check the playcard pictures around.

Game mechanics

- one player is the chicken with all the golden eggs and the other players are the corrupt presidents
- players draw cards each round and arm up with weapons like broken glass bottle, baseball bat, or the most deadly one, a chemical fart

- then they all fight for the eggs
- if the chicken dies, the game is over and eggs are counted and the president with most eggs wins the game
- and not to forget, there are also other interaction cards where players can steal or exchange cards among each other for example or put each other in jail.

Game components

The game consists of 66 beautifully crafted and hand painted cards. That is all. Not more cards, not less cards, 66 and that is it!
